FUND MANAGER UPDATE

- Average BSE200 TTM PE 20x and BSE200 TTM PB 3 end of March. Based on the allocation framework, proposed net long equity allocation for the month of April 2026 would be 65.2%.
- Portfolio continues to have moderate sector bets with preference towards stocks with a growth bias and trading at reasonable risk reward.

Overweight

- Overweight on Financial Services: supported by improving credit demand, ample system liquidity, stable asset quality, and reasonable valuations.
- Telecom: Robust earnings & cash flow growth, led by tariff hike cycle, better operating leverage, improved profitability, and debt reduction.
- Capital Goods sectors: aided by government's enhanced infra and defense budget outlays, as well as increased data center investments in India. We prefer stocks that have the combined moat of execution excellence, technological superiority, and policy protection.
- IT: valuation-led play combined with a structural bet on Artificial Intelligence (AI) transformation. In addition, a defensive hedge in a volatile global macro environment, as IT services companies are a resilient cash-flow-generating sector with consistent dividend payouts.

- REITs: strong growth in leasing of commercial office space, led by demand from GCCs. Dividend yield of 6-7% offers stable returns akin to that of fixed income.

Underweight

- Metals & Mining: Underweight on Metals & Mining: reflecting global uncertainties and evolving business trends in the current macro environment. A prolonged geopolitical conflict could result in global demand slowdown, rising input costs and earnings volatility.
- Utilities: the sector's regulated equity model and relatively slow-and-steady nature would result in earnings growth lagging that of high-growth sectors.
- FMCG: unfavourable risk reward due to expensive valuations.
